

Rewrites of Sonic #3-9 (Excluding Sonic Spinball)

Story 1: Going Out With A Bang (Formerly: "The Bomb Bugs Me!") Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

King Max was out to another country for a few days, so the Queen, Alicia, took his place for a while. Soon, Old Man Owl came to Mobotropolis with disturbing news. "My Queen!" said Old Man Owl. "Metal Sonic has been sent by Eggman to build a nerve gas bomb to kill everyone in the Mobius of the Sky! The plot must be stopped! And soon!" Alicia gasped and said, "I'll have my daughter, Princess Sally, get Sonic to stop this madness! And I think I'll send Rotor Walrus to help with stopping the bomb." Soon, Sally and Rotor were sent to Sonic's retreat and told him what was going on.

The three eavesdropped on some patrol robots that indicated that the nerve gas bomb was being constructed in the Mobius of Darkness, just outside Robotropolis. So they descended to the Mobius of Darkness and located the construction area in a swamp. Some Badniks and Super Badniks (including the Brass Maniac, whom Uncle Chuck was changed into) were helping Metal Sonic build it. Snively, Eggman's nephew and lab assistant, was mixing the nerve gas for the bomb. Sally sneaked into Snively's lab and knocked him unconscious. Rotor triggered a siren in a separate area that led the Badniks and Super Badniks out of the construction area. Sonic fought off Metal Sonic, then made a spin that destroyed the bomb, knowing that it could not work (and therefore was harmless) without the gas! The three heroes then returned to the Mobius of the Sky, where they celebrated back at Sonic's retreat!

End

---

Story 2: Bunnie's Story (Formerly "Rabbit Deployment") Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

The king returned to Mobotropolis shortly after Sonic, Sally, and Rotor prevented Metal Sonic from killing the people with a nerve gas bomb. He brought with him a new recruit... a lovely young Southern rabbit lady named Bunnie Rabbit. Bunnie has many skills in the martial arts and could floor a robot with a good karate kick. King Acorn sent her on her first mission: Accompany Sonic on a reconnaissance mission in the Mobius of Darkness to find out Eggman's next move! Bunnie saluted and said with her Southern voice, "With pleasure, your majesty!"

The two were soon in the Mobius of Darkness, and they located Eggman and Metal Sonic in a canyon. Eggman was telling Metal Sonic of his latest Super Badnik, the Jade Wasp! He had used one of Bunnie's cousins to power it! Bunnie was enraged and wanted to fight. Sonic stopped her, but soon, she accidentally stepped on a dry twig. It was enough to get Eggman and Metal's attention! Eggman soon saw the two and sent Metal to attack! Sonic told Bunnie to stay put and wait as he fought Metal. Sonic received a glancing blow. Bunnie thought that Sonic was seriously wounded and ran toward him to try to help. Metal used this opportunity to trigger an avalanche. When Sonic awoke, he saw Bunnie buried in the avalanche. When he dug through to get her out, she was alive, but badly wounded... mainly in the left arm and both legs. He brought her back to Mobotropolis for treatment.

Bunnie awoke and was in a world of pain, not just physically, but in spirit and emotions as well. "Sonic..." said Bunnie, "This is all my fault... I could have gotten both of us killed... I wanted to be a hero like you and try to save my cousin..." Sonic decided to help Bunnie in some way. He gathered up some leftover Badnik parts and found a Chaos Emerald. He fitted the Chaos Emerald on the left arm "cast" and put the metal "casts" on her arm and legs. The Emerald healed her faster than anticipated, and she was also able to use magic. She experimented for a bit... one moment, Bunnie was normal, and then she allowed herself to become a cyborg, then she could change to normal again. She also tried some other magic spells! She gave herself the name "Bunnie Rabbit" and followed Sonic again... this time, she'd do things right!

Sonic and Bunnie intercepted the Jade Wasp Super Badnik. It used its Lightning Stinger to deep-fry its targets! Bunnie used her robotic left arm to toss Sonic up toward the Jade Wasp. Sonic then made a quick Sonic Spin Attack and drilled through the robot. The Jade Wasp soon exploded, and Bunnie's cousin (a male cousin) was freed from the robot. Bunnie then used her magic to restore the destroyed land, and then resume her normal form. The people returned to Mobotropolis to celebrate Sonic and Bunnie's first team victory.

End

---

-

Story 3: Universalamander
(Formerly "The Lizard of Odd")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

One of Eggman's capture robots returned with a salamander from the Mobius of the Sky. Eggman decided to make a giant Super Badnik out of the diminutive creature. He placed the amphibian in the Badnik Maker and it became the enormous Universalamander. But when Eggman was about to give it orders, Universalamander snapped, "I take orders from no one! I will take over the world!" Universalamander then flew up to the Mobius of the Sky and went on a rampage!

Sonic was reading in the palace library at that same day. He was reading about a link between Chaos Emeralds and Magic Rings (sometimes called Power Rings). Soon, Tails and Sally came in, telling Sonic of Universalamander's rampage. Sonic decided to hunt for some Chaos Emeralds and Rings to prepare for battle. In a hidden mystery zone, Sonic found seven Chaos Emeralds and fifty Rings. They soon dissolved into a pool of light and entered into Sonic's body. Sonic's blue hide became a golden yellow. He felt himself becoming invincible and faster! A voice in Sonic's head said, "You are now 'Super Sonic'! Go now, and help your friends!"

Super Sonic raced out of the zone and prepared to fight Universalamander! Universalamander shot energy bolts from his mouth! But Super Sonic dodged the blows and soon buzz-sawed through the Super Badnik's metal hide! The salamander inside was soon freed. The salamander wandered off into a lake. That didn't matter... as long as it was free, Sonic and his friends were happy. Super Sonic changed back to normal Sonic, but now that he knew how to do the trick, he could use it whenever it was needed!

End

---

Story 4: Tails Goes Solo
(Former title forgotten)
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Things were quiet in Mobotropolis and in the rest of the Mobius of the Sky. Too quiet... and that made things somewhat uneasy to some. Tails remembered that his parents were captured by Eggman. Since Sonic was elsewhere at the time, Tails decided to go to the Mobius of Darkness and find his parents. Tails flew about the Mobius of the Sky until he found a vortex to enter the lower dimension.

Once there, he found a ring that he attuned to find where his parents were. Tails searched about and went into a jungle (which seems out of place in the Mobius of Darkness). There he found his parents trapped in the form of Newtrons, chameleon Badniks. Tails dodged the Newtrons' energy bullets and knocked out the Newtrons. Soon, Tails' parents were freed. Tails and his parents returned to the Mobius of the Sky, where they surprised the others with their presence.

End

---

Story 5: Eggman Games
(Formerly "Olympic Trials and Errors")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

King Acorn built a stadium to hold the Mobian Olympic Games. But then Eggman took it over and held his own sick versions of Olympic games! Sonic, Tails, Sally, Bunnie, Antoine, and Rotor entered the contests to try to win back the stadium. Bunnie went first in gymnastics. Being a believer of a fair fight, she refrained from using her magic or her cyborg shell (she remained normal in this). She barely passed the horse saddle, tumble, and high bars, but she seemed to do well on the balance beam (she challenged a monkey robot, though it was not as intimidating as Coconut). Antoine went to the jumping events. Unfortunately, he did not do well against the kangaroo robot.

Rotor did weightlifting, and surprisingly enough, he tied with the armadillo robot. Sally entered the swimming contest, and just barely beat the shark robot. Tails entered the discus throw. Eggman's bear robot went first. Its score was fifteen meters. When Tails went, he got fifteen and one-quarter meters-- just barely beating it. Then Sonic challenged Metal Sonic to the final race. Sonic and Metal fought hard to beat each other, but eventually, Sonic beat Metal at the finish line! Eggman, unfortunately, was a sore loser, and sent the robots to attack! Sonic fought the other robots first, freeing the animals from the robot forms, and drove off Metal Sonic and Eggman. The heroes succeeded in winning back the stadium!

End

---

Story 6: Sonic vs. Termitenator

(Former title forgotten)
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic and friends were doing some training in the Knothole Camp, when Old Man Owl came and reported of a Super Badnik known as Termitenator eating up the forest near the camp. Sonic and Tails went out to face the monstrosity. Termitenator was devouring the forest at a rapid rate. When Sonic and Tails reached it, Sonic said, "Hey, bug face! It's not nice to eat things that aren't yours!" The bug then spit out saliva-like glue globs that got Sonic and Tails stuck to the ground.

Soon, Sally came and got them out of the jam. She distracted the bug robot by tossing some of the glue into the thing's mouth. With it temporarily disoriented, Sonic made a spin toward the bug. When the thing fell apart, the ball of energy that came out of the Super Badnik changed into a lovely butterfly princess. The butterfly thanked the hedgehog and his friends as she flew off to her home!

End

---

-
Story 7: Christmas Chaos
(Formerly "Sonic's Christmas Carol")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

On Christmas Eve on Mobius, Sonic had to fight Metal Sonic to save Christmas. The robot attacked many people... including Santa Claus himself! Sonic chased Metal Sonic to the North Pole in the Mobius of the Sky. Along the way, he had to fight several Badniks and free the people and animals inside. He saw visions of his family, crying out for help. Then, a Super Badnik known as the Dark Claus appeared.

An elf was used to create Dark Claus. Sonic dodged the candy cane missiles and snowstorm blasts as best as he can. But even when he defeated the Dark Claus, freed the elf, and defeated Metal, he could not help Santa Claus. Santa was wounded from Metal during captivity. Santa appeared to be dying. A voice kept saying, "Sonic... Sonic... Sonic..."

Soon, Sonic awoke and saw Sally and Tails beside his bed. It was all a nightmare. During breakfast, Sonic explained to his friends his bad dream. Sally reassured him that it was only a dream and nothing but. With that behind them, Sonic and his friends continued celebrating the holiday season.

End

---

-
Story 8: Sonic's Treasure Hunt
(Formerly "Uncle Chuck's Treasure")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

The Brass Maniac, the Super Badnik that Uncle Chuck was changed into, told Eggman of a magical treasure that Chuck made when he was still normal. Eggman was delighted to hear of it and decided to hunt for it. Old Man Owl spied on this and reported to Sonic at his retreat. Sonic contacted Tails and the others back on South Island. The people agreed to accompany Sonic in the quest.

According to Old Man Owl's report, Eggman is hunting for the treasure in a desert region of the Mobius of the Sky. Sonic, Tails, Sally, Bunnie, Antoine, and Rotor prepared for the trek. Sonic and Tails held on to the Old Man's reports. Sally had a communicator ready should they need backup. Bunnie got her cyborg armor ready for battle and for digging, should digging be needed. Antoine had his sword, and Rotor kept track of other tools.

Sonic and his team made it to the area where the treasure was just moments before Metal Sonic and some Badniks did. When the treasure was dug up, Metal was ready to attack! The others fought the Badniks (again, freeing the captives within) and Sonic fought his metallic counterpart. Soon, the metal hedgehog retreated, and the treasure was discovered to be... some magical shoe buckles to allow Sonic a bit more speed. Though a bit miffed at first, Sonic's friends decided that it was worth their while!

End

---

-

Story 9: Robot Romance
(Formerly "Sorceress in Distress")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

One night in Mobotropolis, the king decided to hold a costume party in the palace. After a few good dances, laughs, and such, Sally decided to explore South Island. Sonic let her do so, but not without cautioning her to be careful. Sally giggled and said, "Of course I'll be careful... but thank you for your concern, though." Sally was dressed up as a sorceress for the ball. But Eggman was spying on her and mistook her for a real sorceress. Eggman sent Metal Sonic to capture Sally. Metal went to the Mobius of the Sky and captured her. Sonic was not too far when it happened, however. Sonic followed Metal Sonic down to the Mobius of Darkness, and into Eggman's base in Robotropolis.

Sonic gasped when he heard Eggman's intention: Thinking that Sally was a real sorceress, Eggman planned to marry her. Metal Sonic put her in the bride's room and locked it (to keep intruders out). Sonic talked to her at the window and told her that he had seen the kidnapping and wants to know how to get her out. Sally whispered her plan to Sonic. Sonic smiled and said, "That's good! I'll see what I can do!"

Soon, the ceremony started. Just before the exchanging of vows, Eggman asked Sally to do some magic. That was Sonic's cue. Making himself invisible with his super speed, Sonic upstaged Eggman and got Sally out before the Badniks attacked! Soon, both returned safely to the Mobius of the Sky. Sonic dropped Sally off at her bedroom and wished her sweet dreams. Sally kissed Sonic to thank him and wish him good night.

End

Story 10: Super Villain Badniks
(Formerly "Bots All, Folks!")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

During a recent raid, Metal Sonic captured some soldiers on South Island and picked up some super hero comics. When Eggman heard of what Metal Sonic picked up, he had a great idea. He decided to make some Super Badniks based on the comic heroes! There were six soldiers he captured. The Super Badniks he had Snively (his nephew) make were: Super Shock (an electrical warrior), Pyro Technic (fire warrior), Taurus (minotaur robot), Chlorophyll (a Super Badnik who could control plant life as a weapon), Quake Maker (the name says it all), and Typhoon Samurai (a robot who could use wind and weather as weapons). With Metal Sonic leading, they made an attack on Mobotropolis.

Elias, Sally's brother, saw the robots coming a few miles away, and went to his father, mother, and sister to reveal the attack. Queen Alicia sent a distress signal to Sonic, who was on South Island at the time. Sonic and Tails made their way to the palace. Elias told them that Metal Sonic was leading six Super Badniks, each having the likeness of a super hero, toward the city. Sonic got Tails, Sally, Antoine, Bunnie, Rotor, and Elias to accompany him. Elias was first, and he took on Taurus. With a small sword, he took down the metal bull and freed one of the soldiers. Then Bunnie took on Chlorophyll, Rotor fought Pyro Technic, Antoine fought Typhoon Samurai, Tails fought Quake Maker, and Sally fought Super Shock. When all six soldiers were freed, Sonic took on Metal Sonic. After a brief battle, Metal Sonic retreated to Robotropolis for repairs. Another victory was won for the Mobius of the Sky that day!

End

---

Story 11: Sonic's Philharmonic
(Formerly "A Little Sonic Goes A Long Way")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic and his friends were performing a little concert on South Island with musical instruments they found a while back. Snively presented Eggman with a shrink ray. Though the effects last an hour, Eggman figured that it would be long enough to capture Sonic and his friends. He had Metal Sonic gather together Super Badniks Arms, Frankly, and Humpty to help with the attack.

After the concert was over, the palace, where they were performing, was attacked. Sonic and friends made it out to see Eggman attacking. "Won't Eggman ever learn?" said Sonic. But then, Eggman released his ray and shrunk his enemies down. Arms went up first. He used a "Pincer Cord" to try to crush Sonic and his team. Tails got inside it and shorted out the Badnik, freeing one of the warriors used to create the Super Badniks. Then Frankly came up and tried to deep-fry them with an "Electro Pulse!" Bunnie used her magic to defeat him and free another soldier from within. Then Humpty went up and tried to blast them with his "Spoiled Egg Bombs". Antoine entered up his leg and set off one of the bombs inside of him, freeing a third warrior from within the shell.

Enraged, Metal Sonic decided to take matters into his own hands and used a laser Eggman loaned him to try to kill the defending team. Sonic stalled for time until the effects of the shrink ray wore off. Then Sonic knocked out Metal and sent him flying into Eggman's ship. Eggman and Metal retreated, until next time.

End

---

Story 12: Seeing Double
(Formerly "Pseudo-Sonic")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Metal Sonic decided to make another robot Sonic clone. The clone he created was Pseudo-Sonic. Since there were no animals involved in powering the Badnik, Metal Sonic used one of his spare batteries to power the robot. Metal sent Pseudo-Sonic up to the Mobius of the Sky to wreck the Knothole Camp. Without the camp, Metal Sonic thought, the people will not be trained well enough to fight Eggman. Pseudo-Sonic walked through the forest, destroying much of it along the way, as he searched for the camp.

Fortunately, Sonic and Bunnie were training there. Bunnie remained normal (i.e., without her cyborg armor on) so she wouldn't accidentally hurt Sonic. Soon, Tails came and told the two that a new robot Sonic clone was coming. Sonic and Bunnie came out and encountered Pseudo-Sonic. Pseudo-Sonic said, "Hey, there! How about a little one on one!" Sonic said, "You bet!" Bunnie said, "I'm with you, Sonic!" as she got her cyborg armor on! Bunnie used her right hand for spells while her left hand and both feet were used to make direct hits. Once it was weak enough, Sonic finished the bout with a Sonic spin, demolishing the bot. Since there was no animal inside, the two were disappointed, but at the same time, relieved that no one was used in that project! Metal Sonic was enraged and looked forward to paying Sonic and his friends back!

End

---

Story 13: Sonic and the Needle Bird
(Formerly "Get the Point?")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sally's birthday has come, and Sonic needed a present to get her. While he was running through South Island and other areas in the Mobius of the Sky, he soon saw Metal Sonic chasing a Needle Bird. The bird had an injured wing, and was therefore helpless against the metallic fiend. Sonic fought off Metal Sonic and saved the Needle Bird. Once at Sally's birthday party, the princess was a bit reluctant at first to accept the little bird as a gift. But she was soon moved by the plight of its injured wing. Bunnie decided to heal it with her magic.

During a game of charades, however, Old Man Owl came and told Sonic and Sally that Eggman had sent a Tree Baddie to attack the Mobius of the Sky. Distressed, Sonic and Sally decided to go out and fight the monster. The Needle Bird soon followed it. The Tree Baddie was injuring several children that got near it. Sonic tried to spin into it, but the Super Badnik just knocked him back. The Needle Bird shot some spines at it to disorient it. Sonic then got the opportunity to cut the fiend down to size. Another Needle Bird was freed from the Tree Baddie... a female Needle Bird. The Needle Bird Sonic found finally found a mate to share his life with. Sally shed a tear of joy as the two birds were finally happy together.

End